

MAY NEWSLETTER

It is the month of May Queens and to celebrate we are offering 10% off all Royal Jelly products! This month we will be looking inside the hives for new queen cells and selecting the strongest, to help the bees develop better traits – such as disease resistance and a calm nature. Royal Jelly is vital to the hive as all developing bees are fed on it for the first few weeks of life. It contains protein, amino acids, minerals and vitamin B complex. (pic below: a Queen cell being constructed by worker bees.)

It is only the Queens who are fed Royal Jelly throughout their lives, whilst worker bees are fed on honey and pollen. This difference in diet is the reason why a Queen Bee outlives her workers by several years, and she is so fertile that she can lay three times her own body weight in eggs, daily! One hive only produces a tiny amount, which makes fresh Royal Jelly very valuable to both bees and humans!

ROYAL JELLY FOR YOU

It is good for anyone who is convalescing because of the protein in it that aids the body's repair and its amino acids and proteins are helpful for people who do a lot of physical activity and those who suffer from fragile nails and hair. Royal Jelly is often taken by athletes and body builders because it is a natural energy booster. It contains all the B vitamins, so can be very helpful to menstruating women, especially those with irregularities.

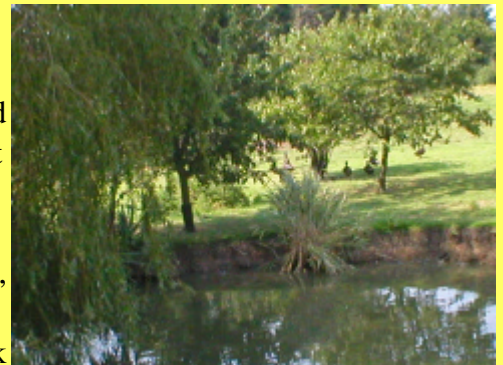

An Invitation To The Bee Farm

You can taste all our honeys and sample the beeswax cosmetics and toiletries in the Honey Store and our Gift Studio is fully stocked with hand-made crafts, toys, china and gifts. On fine days you can enjoy tea outside and take in the peaceful Kentish countryside whilst listening to the variety of birdsong here, children can enjoy fresh air and their own special lunch, after watching the bees at work in our observation hive - which will be on show at the end of the month. We are open all year round.

The Tea Room We have become renowned for our Cream Teas so we now have more inside seating available in our tea room to cater for groups and rainy days.

For party bookings we still have our white marquee with further seating, so if you wish to enquire for birthdays, club outings and coach bookings, please e-mail or telephone us to discuss your requirements. Several parties have already enjoyed afternoon teas and lunches here and given us good feedback, so this is a service we will continue to provide and develop further. We look forward to welcoming you here on Tuesday – Saturday 9-5pm, Sunday 10 – 4pm and Bank Holiday Mondays 10-4pm. On normal Mondays we will be closed.
